Cue & Curtain Will Repeat "Our Town"

City-Wide Requests
Lead to Second
Performance Saturday

IN RESPONSE to a demand evidenced by requests of many faculty members and students and of many others interested in drama locally, Cue and Curtain, campus dramatic group, will offer a repeat performance of the Pulitzer prize play, "Our Town," Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in the Western Presbyterian Church auditorium.

A cast headed by Ernest Paine, Nancy Morgan, Clinton Braine, Shirley Cox, Keith Adamson, William Darnall, Betty Green and Margie Beal played to capacity audiences for the first two-night presentation of Thornton Wilder's "home-town" saga, and the enthusiastic reception accorded Cue and Curtain's first major production of the school year lead to many requests for a repetition of the production.

Retrieves Reputation

In a story in the Washington Post headed "Cue and Curtain Makes Success of 'Our Town,'" Richard L. Cox, Post drama critic, said, "It proved... that in its first full-length production of the season, the Cue and Curtain Club has regained a position of dignity among the city's amateur groups."

The difficult presentation of a play without sets or props, requiring the creation of the environment through the dialogue of the characters presented obvious difficulties for a dramatic group limited in facilities as is Cue and Curtain, but Director Floyd Sparks has built around a nucleus of seasoned players a deftly-handled and broadly conceived piece of direction.

Enthusiastic Response

The enthusiastic response of the faculty members among the first night's audience is largely responsible for the decision to repeat the performance, having led to a strong show of interest by faculty who failed to see the production.

Tickets will be on sale in the Hall of Government today, Wednesday, and Thursday from 11 a.m. till 1 p.m. and from 4:30 till 6:30. Friday and Saturday they will be on sale at the same hours in the Student Club. Cash mail orders will be accepted if addressed to "Cue and Curtain, George Washington University," and reserved tickets will be held at the door Saturday night.

Strong Hall Girls Herald Blessed Event

FEW KNOW IT—but there's a blessed event in the Dorm! On the fifth floor in a single room, in the still of the night, one of the girl's gigantic guppies presented Strong Hall with its first blessed event.

At daybreak this tiny mite stared out into an academically-minded world and with one of its six eyes winked mischievously at its beaming owner. Its mother, six green-eyed with envy, was about to eat it up if some more appetizing food had not been sprinkled on the surface of the water.

Little Leatherneck is only one of a very royal family, whose ancestors spent their pre-school days in Schmidt's Pet Shop. Their ancestral domicile was a huge, thick-walled, marble-studded aquarium. The elaborate furnishings were flat-surfaced pebbles, green and blue shells, and bright marble agates. Indeed, their life was one of luxury!

And, as most royal families do, they carried on occasional warfare with their neighboring foes. Yet no bodies every lay strewn about the battlefield, the aquarium bottom, because these guppies fed on royal stock—themselves. Their present living quarters, too, are nothing less than palatial. The queen's throne, which she is too busy to occupy, is a deceased starfish affixed to a jewel-toned rock. The kingly chair is a miniature, rusty iron anchor, draped with green, sea-weed. The new-born prince's quarters are anywhere within the brilliantly-lighted aquarium.

This blessed event may not be blessed for very long, however, for Queenie and His Highness are casting sinister glances at their male heir. And unless the owner's guess is wrong, any day now she may wake up to find a "blessed event," less "aquarium."

Freshman Club Will Entertain New Students

MEMBERS of the new freshman class will be guests at the Freshman Club meeting to be held on Friday at 12:30 in Gov. 1. This meeting will serve to acquaint the members of the February and September freshman classes. New freshmen are invited to join the Freshman Club.

Old members of the Freshman Club want the new freshmen to feel free to ask them for aid in the problems of freshmen orientation since they feel that their recent experience qualifies them.

On Monday, Herbert Benjamin, president of the Club, extended an invitation to the freshmen to join and to attend Friday's meeting.

THE PRESIDENTS of the Student Bar Association, the Student Council, and the Engineers Council exchange tickets to the Barristers' Ball, the All-University Prom, and the Engineers' Ball.

Engineers, Lawyers Meet With Student Council

PLEDGING a new spirit of intra-campus cooperation, the Engineers' Council, the Executive Council of the Student Bar Association, and the Student Council will meet jointly next Monday evening in the Student Council office. The presidents of the three groups exchanged complimentary tickets to their respective dances, all this month, several weeks ago.

The heads of the three groups are Bert M. Randall, president of the Engineering School's governing body; Wilbur Schuch, president of the Law School's Student Bar Association; and John Thomas Cotton Daugherty, III, president of the student body.

The first of the three dances has already passed into social history—the All-University Prom, signaling the end of exams last week. The next will be the Barristers' Ball, Feb. 17, at which the King and Queen of the Law School will be crowned. The third will be the Engineers' Ball, Feb. 23, at which the engineers annually let down their hair and turn social.

At the suggestion and initiative of Randall and Tom Johnston of the Engineers' Council, the presidents of the groups met to exchange ideas and social invitations. When that meeting took place, the suggestion was put forth that perhaps closer association among the professional schools might be gained by a joint meeting of the councils.

The plan was adopted, and the meeting set for next Monday, with the idea of providing a ground for the discussion of mutual and common problems.

The meeting may lead to eventual co-sponsorship of joint affairs, to make for better acquaintanceship among the councils.

Professor Seeger Arranges Full Chapel Schedule

A FULL SCHEDULE of chapel talks by religious leaders of Washington has been lined up for this semester by Prof. Raymond John Seeger, director of the weekly chapel services.

The first speaker of this term will be the Rev. James Spera Montgomery, Chaplain of the House of Representatives. He will talk on Friday, Feb. 16, at 12:10 p.m. in Columbian House, at the corner of 21st and G Sts.

Last semester's chapel series was one of the most successful ever held. Revived last fall by Professor Seeger, it opened with an address by the Rev. James E. Freeman, popularly called the Bishop of Washington, and head of the Washington Cathedral. Other leading ministers in Washington also spoke, as well as two faculty members. In December, the combined Glee Clubs presented a special program for chapel, consisting of Christmas carols.

The chapel exercises are held each Friday noon for twenty minutes, beginning at 12:10, on the first floor of Columbian House. The programs consist of two hymns, scripture reading, and a prayer, followed by a ten-minute talk. Professor Seeger is general chairman, and Marjorie Wilkins is the pianist. They are assisted by a student committee in other details of the services. A printed schedule and program is given out.

Professor Seeger, a member of the Physics Department, was recently tapped by Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary leadership fraternity, for "his tireless efforts in aiding students and for his fine work in connection with the University's chapel programs."

Freshmen Register Today

Regular Registration
Tomorrow & Thursday
In Hall of Government

REGISTRATION for entering Freshmen takes place today while older Freshmen must wait until the regular registration days, Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 7 and 8 when upper classmen will register.

Under the direction of Dean William C. Johnstone, new Freshmen will fill out their programs with the aid of special Freshmen advisors.

Registration for all classes will take place from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. in the Hall of Government except for law students who will register in Stockton Hall.

For the convenience of the registering students, the Registrar, Mr. Nessel, and the Director of Women's Personnel Guidance, Mrs. Barrows, will be in Government 101 during registration.

Students not already admitted must secure temporary permits from the Admissions Office in Building C. Registration blanks may be secured from the Office of the Registrar in Room 101 in the Hall of Government.

Fees are payable in the Comptroller's Office, Government 2. Fees may either be paid in full or in thirds, the first third being paid at the time of admission and the other two thirds on March 1 and April 1, respectively. A late registration fee of five dollars will be charged anyone registering after Feb. 8. In all courses registration for credit closes after Feb. 23.

Classes Again Friday

Classes will resume Friday. All men students are required to take a physical examination at this University. The examination is scheduled for Thursday at noon. English placement tests and psychological exams were given yesterday. No student is fully registered in the University until he has taken these required examinations.

Girls' Bring Your Date and Furniture

GIRLS WILL take the lead and furniture will be in abundance at the Leap Year Housewarming Party to be held Saturday night, Feb. 17 at 8:30 p.m. in Recreation Hall.

The informal dance is sponsored by the Sorority Hall House committee to help furnish the Recreation Hall. Besides 10 cent tickets of admission for each girl will be a piece of furniture—chair, rug, footstool, or other article brought from home.

The dance is being held in Recreation Hall and the girls will ask their dates.

Activities Honorary Taps Eleven Men During All-University Prom

Omicron Delta Kappa Also Taps Professor Seeger

ELEVEN STUDENTS and one faculty member, Prof. Raymond John Seeger, were tapped for membership in Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary activities fraternity Friday night as the feature of the All-University Ball at the Kennedy-Warren Hotel.

The students were honored for outstanding achievement in student activities. Professor Seeger was tapped for honorary membership by the Alpha Delta Circle of O. D. K. for "his tireless efforts in aiding students and for his fine work in connection with the University's chapel programs."

The students elected and their activities follow: John Breckinridge, member of Cherry Tree and University Handbook staffs, comptroller of the Student Council, member of Kappa Sigma Fraternity; Charles Coker, member of the Student Congress, member of the debate team for three years, member of Cue and Curtain Dramatic Club, and a member of Tau Sigma Rho Fraternity; Allen Dewey, business manager of the Cherry Tree, member of Cue and Curtain, and a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity.

John Kendrick, business manager of Cue and Curtain, president of Sigma Chi Fraternity and member of the varsity debate team; Frank Mann, varsity basketball manager, member of Cue and Curtain, member of the University Band, member of The Hatchet and Handbook staffs, and a member of Sigma Nu Fraternity; Ward McCabe, member of The Hatchet and Cherry Tree staffs, member of Cue and Curtain, and a member of the Student Congress; Richard McDonald, president of Delta Tau Delta and advocate of the Student Council.

Cue & Curtain Try-Outs To Be Held Next Week

TRYOUTS for Cue and Curtain for the second semester will be held Feb. 13 and 14, place to be announced in next week's Hatchet. These tryouts will be the basis of selection of casts for all forthcoming productions of the current semester, so all interested students are urged to be present.

All phases of production will be considered, applicants for stage work, particularly designing and construction, are especially desired. Part tryouts for the forthcoming radio production on the WJSV-Columbia Broadcasting System amateur radio dramatic contest will be conducted.

Director Floyd L. Sparks advises that positions are open in all fields of dramatic endeavor with the Cue and Curtain players and urges that all interested appear at the tryouts.

"Be a Brick and Buy a Brick" For Building, Women Ask

VIRGINIA BIRKBY

VIRGINIA TEHAS

Building Will Include Banquet Hall, Athletic Facilities & Clubrooms

"BE A BRICK and buy a brick" is the sounding call for women to rally around the Women's Activities Building drive in a campaign that opens Monday and will last to the Easter holidays.

Inaugurated about a year and a half ago, the Women's Activities Building drive has as its goal a building which will include a banquet hall and ballroom, a large main gymnasium, a swimming pool, a dance studio, smaller gymnasiums, an indoor archery range, dressing rooms, a medical unit, and club facilities for such activities as Mortar Board, Panhellenic Council, the Women's Athletic Association, the Alumnae and Columbian Women. The dining hall of the building will be for the use of dormitory residents.

The main project of this year, the "Buy a Brick" campaign will consist of the distribution of coin cards, which will be filled with ten dimes, a full card buying one brick. The cards will be distributed to sororities and clubs on campus, particularly those organizations which have participated to date in the drive. They will also be sent to alumnae clubs throughout the country and to outstanding alumnae women, who were active in student projects while in the University.

The campaign will be conducted in the form of a contest, with prizes going to the individuals and groups filling the most coin cards. While the front of the coin card carries small sketches of women in various activities along with the campaign slogan, the back of the card carries an advertisement by Jelleff's store, the first commercial organization supporting the drive.

The drive has already drawn marked interest from numerous University groups and individuals. Interest in the drive by the University trustees has already been evidenced by the fact that 12, led by Dr. Harry Cassell Davis, have contributed to the fund. Other organizations which are supporting the drive are: Phi Delta Gamma, Phi Delta Delta, Pi Lambda Theta, Kappa Beta Pi, Alpha Lambda Delta, Columbian Women, the Women's Student Government Association, the General Alumni Association and the Panhellenic Alumnae Group, which includes representatives from Alpha Delta Pi, Chi Omega, Delta Zeta, Kappa Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Phi Mu, Sigma Kappa, Pi Beta Phi, and Zeta Tau Alpha.

One feature of the drive will be the display of a model of the planned building, which is under the direction of Mr. Cline of the Art Department. Jean Vleto, assisted by Janice Hale, is the student in charge of making the model, which will go on display with the opening of the campaign.

In charge of the campaign are Helen Hanford, Women's Rifle Coach, who is general chairman; Virginia Birkby and Marie Jaroleman, in charge of distribution of coin cards; and Virginia Tehas, contest chairman. Details of the contest will be announced next week.

Princeton Debate Tryouts Tonight; N. C. Saturday

TWO TRYOUTS will be held this week for debates to be held at Princeton and the University of North Carolina. The first tryout will be held tonight at 8:00 p.m. in D-305; the second on Saturday at 2:00 p.m. in D-305.

The subject to be discussed Tuesday is, resolved: "The United States should withdraw from the Orient." On Saturday, the question is, resolved: "that the present administration deserves a vote of confidence."

The final debates will be held on Feb. 21 at Princeton, and March 1 at Chapel Hill.

In the latter part of March the team will debate at the Universities of Missouri and St. Louis. The discussion at the University of Missouri will be printed in the University Debates Annual, and negotiations are being carried out to obtain this honor for the debate at North Carolina.

Joe Cloroty and Mike McKool will represent the University Sunday night at Emmitsburg, Md., in a debate on Socialized Medicine.

Seven Blondes Are Beauty Candidates

BLONDE BEAUTY is predominate this year in the group of ten contestants selected by the campus sororities to compete for the title of Beauty Queen of George Washington University. Of the ten candidates whose beauty will be appraised by a movie star judge, seven are blondes.

Candidates already chosen by various sororities are: Alpha Delta Pi, Hildreth Friedli; Delta Zeta, Kay Wheeler; Kappa Delta, Barbara Hanford; Kappa Kappa Gamma, Betty Bartlett; Pi Beta Phi, Joanne Smith; Phi Mu, Kay Woodward; Phi Sigma, Dorothy Handloff; Zeta Tau Alpha, Muriel McPherson.

Cherry Tree authorities are still contacting movie houses in Washington, to decide upon the male movie star to act as judge in the contest. The dance at which the judging will take place will be held in the Student Club this month. The date is yet to be announced.

Mortar Board Sponsors Tea For Building

TO RAISE MONEY for the Women's Activities Building, Mortar Board is sponsoring a Silver Tea on Thursday, Feb. 8, in Columbian House. If one hundred girls visit this exhibit of Towle Silver, which will be on display from 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., it will mean $50 toward the Women's Activities Building fund. Every girl is urged to help make the project a success.

• PENDING THE COMPLETION of the reorganization of The Hatchet, this issue of the paper has been published by Ira Brown, Sue Burnett, and Irwin Nathanson, with the assistance of Tom McCall on sports, and the following reporters:

To The Freshmen

• "YOU ENTER the University at a most auspicious period of its development. With a long and distinguished history behind it, this institution affords you today better facilities than have been enjoyed by any class that has preceded you."

"Both the opportunities and the problems of today are larger than those confronted by previous generations of college youth. You enter upon your college careers in a period of change. Do not shrink from it. Only by being a part of change, by being happy in the race, will you attain satisfaction. The world is going on, and those who seek a static security that will insulate them from the motion about them are simply retreating from life. Not increase of security, but increased giving unto life, will bring life more abundant.

"How can I fit myself for the world that is coming into being? Can I be sure that the years spent in these halls will prepare me to take my position in the scheme of things? Is scholarship worth while?" you may ask.

"For answer, let me point out that the truly successful men and women come chiefly from those who rank high in scholarship. And the reason why the best scholars succeed best in life is that they are the ones who have been most regular and punctual in doing their college assignments and in meeting their college appointments. My experience with college students teaches me that they are intellectually much nearer a level than their achievements would indicate; it is power of will more than power of mind that differentiates them.

"You will win in life not by virtue of the specialized knowledge you acquire here so much as by the habits you form. The student for whom one may predict a successful life is the one who does his college work faithfully and who stands well in his class. He takes part in sports and student affairs, but never to the detriment of his studies. He holds the solid respect of his class-mates, without being flabbily popular. He plans his work; he keeps appointments; he moves toward a goal.

"Perseverance, adaptability, integrity—these are the attributes that will enable you to meet the problems of after-college years. Cultivate them while you are here."

In addition to the words of the University President, The Hatchet, in welcoming you, wishes to call to the attention of freshmen that:

This is your paper. In it you will find a survey of University school life, with bits about our professors, our social life, and our activities. Sketchily, it is a picture of the life you are entering into for the next four years. It is a picture of the life that you must make yours, if you are to receive the total benefit from your college career.

You will find accounts of organizations which will be of the greatest supplementary benefit to your class-room work, and you will find in it accounts of activities which will increase your social enjoyment. The paper is issued to you each week. Despite its faults, each issue will contain some element of importance to you.

This is your paper. If there are faults in it or in any portion of the University life you enter, this paper is open to your criticism.

The paper needs your help in depicting the whole of University activities. But a newspaper need not only depict; it may likewise build. So if you are desirous of building your school, you can do much toward that end by way of your school paper. Positions are regularly open on its reportorial staff, if you will but inquire. And its columns are always yours.

Cherry Blossoms

• THE CHERRY BLOSSOM DRIVE, annual philanthropic activity of the University Masonic Club, is again calling upon University students to buy cherry blossoms in support of their School of Government.

With twelve scholarships to the School of Government as its goal, the drive in the past has already attained six, which have brought students from all over the country to our University.

If the Drive is to reach its much-desired goal, it must have the backing of each student. Sorority women in the past have given excellent service in this most worthy activity, and will do so again this year. They will be prepared to sell the blossoms; but the other students must buy them, if this Drive is to be as successful as its predecessors.

Perhaps this year, however, instead of calling upon the sororities alone for support, the Drive might receive support from fraternities by way of Cherry Blossom dances, such as were given in cooperation with the Food Drive, the proceeds going to the scholarship fund.

No better support could be given the University than through cooperation with this activity.

Buy A Brick

• OPENING NEXT WEEK is the "Buy a Brick" campaign of the Women's Activities Building Fund Drive.

Following approximately a year and a half of effort on the part of various campus groups to raise money for a Women's Activities Building, this campaign coordinates all of these groups into one big drive, the main project of this year.

Some twenty women's organizations in and out of the University, as well as numerous individual contributors, have already supported this campaign. Certainly the interest they have evidenced is ample reason in itself for the student body as a whole to give them a boost toward their goal, a building which will include a banquet hall, ballroom, athletic facilities, and clubroom facilities—all of which are needed on this campus. Dormitory residents will be glad to hear that also included in the plan is a dining hall for air use.

If the women of the University are earnest enough in undertaking such a project to keep up incessant activity in its behalf, it seems as though their efforts should receive encouragement from all.

Obey the campaign slogan, and "Buy a Brick" for the Women's Activities Building.

Debate "Should Married Women Work?"

By George!

Dying From Laughter

• WHEN A STUDENT wanted to kill an extra hour after exams last week she asked the attendant in the reserve book reading room for the "funniest book in the house." She was handed a copy of Hitler's "Mein Kampf."

You Guess

• WHAT ENGINEER asked what columnist of what University Hatchet for a loan of what pair of ear muffs when he had to go out on what surveying project what day two weeks ago?

Frustration

• IF YOU'D BEEN up on the second floor of the library the other day you might have seen an Argentine woman who asked at the desk for the elevator, which was pointed out to her.

The desk man probably thought nothing more of it until he saw her step out from the telephone booth across the hall from the elevator and heard her say, "I quiet. No good. I can't make it go up. I can't make it go down."

Curfew Stumps Reporter

• THE GREY BEARDS around here will have to admit that some of the junior reporters on this sheet are pretty young. But just how young even they couldn't imagine until one cub calling up an officer of the Ward Sociology club was told by the lady who answered to "Go to bed!"

P. S.—An extension 'phone might have had something to do with it.

George, Too

• SOMEONE WITH an unusually retentive memory says that this appeared at the University of Michigan many months ago:

The fog comes
On little cat feet
About the time of examinations,
And sits
On silent haunches
Looking over desk and chair
And then moves on
Only sometimes it doesn't.

Hitting The Bottle

• VISITORS in the office of the editorial board of The Hatchet have been baffled recently by seeing strange, exotic-looking liquid refreshment on the desk.

To solve the mystery, George swiped a pint of the stuff, set an expert analytical chemist on the trail, and was told that the stuff was—(Shall we disillusion you, dear reader? Oh, well)—milk.

Guilty Conscience

Commerce Fraternity Initiates 9

The professional commerce fraternity held its goat night at Columbian House Saturday, Court of Honor, formal initiation, and a banquet following on Sunday at the Kennedy Warren.

Dr. Richard N. Owens, deputy counselor, and Prof. Orton W. Boyd, faculty member, gave short talks, and President Joe Findlay, toastmaster, provided a novel program in which all took part.

The new members include Harold G. Sutton, professor of finance at the University; Charles W. Houlihan, William Wiley, Jack Bradley, Henry M. Cunningham, Joseph Zubrecky, Stephen Zubrecky, William McCown, and Gordon Johnson.

Myriad of Organizations and Activities Await Freshman

Publications, Drama, Religious Clubs Are Among Activities

• MYRIAD ORGANIZATIONS await students, both new and old, who have the time and talent to devote to extra-curricular activities. While many have remarked that this has been a year of lull in the "activities" scene—certainly an unspectacular year—almost a hundred organizations continue to offer opportunities for social, professional, religious, literary, dramatic, and musical expression.

Sixteen social fraternities and ten social sororities, occupying houses, and rooms in Sorority Hall, keep up a round of dances and parties throughout the year, as well as many other activities. Cooperation among them is achieved through the Interfraternity Council and the Panhellenic Association. Delta and Eta and Key are honor organizations in the sorority and fraternity fields. An Independent Men's non-fraternity group and the Colonial Campus Club for girls provide social opportunities for unaffiliated students.

Department Clubs

Departmental and professional organizations bring students into informal contact with their professors and provide programs of speakers and entertainment for those with kindred interest in a certain subject. Among these are the American Society of Civil Engineers, the Home Economics Club, the Phi Sigma Rho philosophy society, the Ward Sociological Society, and Le Cercle Francais Universitaire.

While maintaining its freedom from sectarian affiliations, the University encourages the spiritual growth of the student. The religious life of the student is regarded as a personal and individual matter, not supervised by the University, but religious meetings, such as the weekly chapel service at Friday noon in Columbian House, are held under University auspices with faculty members and clergymen as speakers. Among the active religious clubs are Avukah, Baptist Student Union, Christian Science Organization, Luther Club, Newman Club, and Wesley Club.

Hatchet Needs Reporters

The University Hatchet, weekly student newspaper, affords opportunity for journalistic expression. While undergoing a reorganization this year, it urges all students who are interested in reporting and writing to come down on Sunday afternoons to the office in the basement of the building at 20th and G. The Cherry Tree (Faculty and the Handbook (a manual of University information) are other student publications.

An unusual student activity is the political discussion group called the George Washington Congress. All students may join the Congress and any of its parties. Party caucuses, committee meetings, and plenary sessions on current issues are held throughout the year.

Drama Club Active

Cue and Curtain has had a successful season of dramatic productions this year, including the presentation of several groups of one-act plays and the full-length drama "Our Town." Debate is also a major interest. An international debate with Oxford University was held last fall. The varsity debate team will meet Illinois, Missouri, and Washington University on a western tour this spring.

Musical Organizations

The Glee Clubs attract many. On several occasions they have won national honors in intercollegiate activities. The Band is essential for the football games and other University occasions. The Symphony Club and Orchestra (dance group) serve other interests.

The large number of foreign students in the University has resulted in the formation of the International Students Society, one of the most active organizations on the campus. There is a waiting list for

Off Campus

Voice of the People

• TWO MONTHS AGO at Auburn University, a vote was taken by the student body which resulted in a 2,586 to 44 decision against the cut rule.

This display of student opinion was noted by the University's Executive Board which last week announced that the rule had been revised.

As it now stands, students may cut each course twice as many times as the number of credit hours given for the course. However, juniors and seniors of the dean's list may take unlimited cuts.

Missouri Corn Surplus

• JUST SIXTY DAYS before enrolling in the University of Missouri School of Agriculture, Freshman Sam Caplan saw his first cow. It was at the New York World's Fair where Caplan worked last year that he saw the cow that was destined to become such a great influence on his life. Two weeks later he enrolled in the University of Missouri.

When asked of his reaction at seeing his first cow, Caplan said "I was utterly surprised, and that's, no bull."

Dead or Alive

• REPRESENTATIVES of ten colleges and universities from the eastern part of the United States met at Bucknell University and took part in "A New Type of Crime Conference."

Penn State, Juniata, Temple, New York University, Lafayette, St. Lawrence, Susquehanna, Bucknese Junior College, Lincoln College, and Bucknell University were represented.

The conference lasted for two days and included a trip to the Northeastern Federal Penitentiary.

• IT IS ESTIMATED that fraternities on the Williams campus used some 52,000 cigarettes during the rushing season this fall.

• EIGHTY-THREE per cent of the men graduates of the University of Minnesota's college of agriculture are placed in the government service.

Prof. Garnett Writes Book On Ethics

Professor of Philosophy Publishes New Work "Wisdom in Conduct"

• PROF. CHRISTOPHER B. GARNETT, JR.'s new book "Wisdom in Conduct" was published by Harcourt, Brace & Company. This book is the outcome of teaching the ethics course at the University for the past eight years. The book is written for use in ethics classes and is designed to be understandable by college sophomores and by the average lay reader. Professor Garnett has tried to develop his own philosophy with relation to the field of ethics.

Unlike most books in the field of ethics, Professor Garnett's book conceives of ethics as a study that is not primarily theoretical, but chiefly practical, dealing with situations in conduct which confront living individuals and present-day communities and states. In accordance with this idea, the book deals with such topics as poverty, sickness, divorce, birth control, insanity—evils in personal life; unemployment, industrial strife, group health, crime, capital punishment, and warfare between nations—evils in the field of ethics.

President Marvin Sees New Engineering Education

Speaks at Reception for Dean Feiker

• DEVELOPMENT of a new type of engineering education was foreseen by President Cloyd H. Marvin of the University speaking recently before alumni, faculty and students of the School of Engineering in honor of the newly appointed dean, Frederick M. Feiker.

President Marvin asserted that it is the function of a school of engineering located in the Capital to train men for service "at the point where engineering reaches out to serve mankind, touching problems of public health, law, governmental-industrial relations," etc. "For such a development a man is needed who knows engineering and government service, and who has imagination and courage. In Dean Feiker we have that man," he said.

The President said that in developing the School of Engineering "we do not intend to lift up a monopoly or a Cornell Engineering School and set it down in Washington, for that wouldn't do the job. The situation here is a different one; one full of challenge. But we must make the proper analysis and adapt our actions accordingly."

Dean Feiker was welcomed by and received plaudits and pledges of cooperation from representatives of the alumni, students, faculty, Board of Trustees and engineering profession. Speakers were: Watson Davis, Director of Science Service, who spoke as president of the engineering alumni; Bert Randall, president of the Engineers' Council, for the students; Dean Henry Gratton Doyle, for the deans of the University; Dr. A. B. McGowan, president of the Washington Council of Engineers, for the engineering profession; Professor Norman B. Ames, for the faculty of the School of Engineering; and Dr. Charles R. Mann, for the Board of Trustees.

In his response Dean Feiker said that the opportunity presented by the post he is assuming is an inspiring one. He proposed as a motto for the School of Engineering of the University, "New Horizons for Engineering Education."

In introducing Dean Feiker to the audience Trustee Mann declared that he "knows more about the fundamental problems of education in engineering than anyone I have known."

On behalf of students of the School of Engineering Bert Randall presented to Mrs. Feiker an arm bouquet of buff roses and blue iris. H. Velpeau, Darling of the Engineer Alumni Association presided at the meeting, which was held in the Hall of Government.

A reception followed the meeting, after which guests were given the opportunity to inspect the new offices and classrooms of the School of Engineering.

Student Council Will Conduct Book Exchange

• THE SECOND-HAND book exchange will be conducted by the Student Council this semester. It will be under the direction of Dale Champlain who will take the position previously handled by Bruce Skaggs, former head of the exchange. The book exchange was previously operated by the Men's Independent's but was turned over to the Council when it was proposed that new books be sold to the students along with the second-hand books.

The book exchange will be located in the basement of building B in the Student Council office. Owners of books will follow the same procedure in the sale of second-hand books as was carried out in the past several years. That is, they will present the book to the exchange along with the price they wish to charge for the book. The exchange will then endeavor to sell the book at this price plus a small operating cost. In case the book is not sold the book will be returned to the student.

Plans of the new cooperative book exchange, if accepted by the University, will be presented in the next issue of The Hatchet.

Student Air Pilots Are Promoted

• ELEVATION FROM the ranks of Dodos to the list of Air Cubs is the achievement of the following student pilots who have soloed and become members of the C. A. A. Training Program "Air Pup" group: E. R. Banning, D. A. Beardsley, A. R. Eno, A. Greene, L. G. Grimes, R. L. Hare, W. S. Hartman, J. F. Hendrick, W. P. Hughes, R. G. Jacobson, R. L. Keys, F. W. Loops, M. R. Oliver, L. D. Peterson, E. J. Taggart, J. H. Vaughan, and R. R. Burlingame.

Formation of a member chapter of the N. E. F. C. of the N. A. A. has been announced by the aeronautics ground school of the University. This chapter is among the first in the country under the Flight Program to form a local group membership, and includes half the class and Professor Norman B. Ames, ground school instructor.

Frank Felton, student at the University and member of the Flight Program class has been accepted for training by the Army Air Corps to qualify as a Flying Cadet and expects to report for primary training soon at the Alabama School of Aeronautics at Tuscaloosa.

Mr. G. Grant Mason, Jr., of the C. A. A., and Mr. Fred M. Glass of the Air Safety Board were speakers before the Flight Program class on Tuesday, January 23. Mr. Mason spoke informally on the Student Training Program of the C. A. A. and the furthering of advanced training to members. The subject of the talk given by Mr. Glass was the organization, administration and activities of the Air Safety Board.

Professors End And Begin Sabbaticals

• PROF. BENJAMIN CARPENTER CRUICKSHANKS, of the School of Engineering; Prof. George Winchester Stone, of the English Department; and Prof. DeWitt Clinton Knowles, of the Department of Chemistry, have returned to their teaching posts this semester after absence on sabbatical leave.

Professor Cruickshanks has been engaged in research in heat transfer at Pennsylvania State College during his leave. Work has been completed by Professor Stone at Harvard University for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Professor Knowles has been completing work for the Doctorate and doing research in analytical chemistry at the University of Minnesota.

Professors who will be on sabbatical leave this semester include Professor Douglas Bement of the English Department and Professor James Henry Taylor of the Department of Mathematics. Professor Bement will go to New Mexico where he will work on a revision of his book "Weaving the Short Story" and two other books that are in the process of completion. Leave taken by Professor Taylor will be spent in research in advanced mathematics at Princeton University and the Institute for Advanced Studies at Princeton.

Cherry Blossom Drive Sales Cup Exhibited

• IN KEEPING with the policy of the drive "to make the campus Cherry Blossom conscious," the cup to be awarded to the group winning this year's drive will be on exhibition in the Student Club this week.

The drive to raise funds for scholarships in the School of Government will open on Friday, Feb. 16, with the planting of a cherry tree, sponsored by the Engineers' Council and the Student Council. The Student Council has purchased the tree for planting.

Blossoms will be sold on Feb. 16, 19, and 20. The winner of the sales contest will be announced during intermission at the Engineers' Ball on Feb. 23, and the cup awarded. All campus clubs have been invited to sell blossoms and compete for the prizes, first prize being a cup and second, five dollars in cash. Fraternities will be invited to support the drive.

Funds from the Blossom sales will go to the Educational Foundation of the National League of Masonic Clubs and will be used to support scholarships in the School of Government. The plans of the Foundation call for the establishment of three scholarships each year until twelve have been founded. The number will remain at 12 with 3 expiring each year and 3 new scholarships being awarded.

The value of each scholarship is $600 a year for four years. When all of the scholarships are awarded, the cost will be $7,200 a year. To raise this sum, Blossom drives are held every year at Washington's Birthday in each of the Masonic Clubs throughout the country. All the proceeds going to the Educational Foundation and being used to send students to the School of Government of this University.

The holders of the six scholarships which have been established by the Foundation are Blake Ehrlich, Charles Hellriegel, Jr., Franklin Hillman, Neal Hendrickson, John Mellor, and Edward Souweine.

Engineering Slants

By CHARLES G. KURZ

• GREETINGS, Freshmen Engineers! Those of you who are new to the University will soon realize what an unusual institution of learning you have entered. Some of you are day students and some are evening students, but by the time graduation rolls around you will all find that you are in one class, for it is unusual for a student not to secure a position along the lines of his chosen profession before his senior year. This idea, we feel, is a very good one as it enables you to obtain what some institutions call "a cooperative course" where the student works part-time and attends classes part-time.

Another unusual feature of the Engineering School is the close relationship between the student and the faculty. You will soon welcome the opportunity of seeking their always ready advice on any problem. Our dean, Frederick Feiker, after having had very successful careers in engineering, publications, government and with the American Engineering Council, has now turned his talents to the development of future engineers at our school.

The freshman engineer also has the opportunity to develop some very excellent professional contacts while still in the University by joining one of the three engineering societies, namely the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, American Institute of Civil Engineers and the American Institute of Mechanical Engineers. These societies feature monthly lectures by prominent engineers and students on noteworthy engineering topics.

The social life is taken care of by the Engineers' Council which sponsors two inter-society meetings, an Engineers' Ball and an Engineers' Banquet each year. The first of these functions will be an inter-society meeting which will be announced shortly. The second will be the Ninth Annual Engineers' Ball to be held on Feb. 23 in the west ballroom of the Shoreham Hotel. Tickets may be purchased from members of the Engineers' Council or from officers of the engineering societies at $2.00 per couple.

All in all, we think the Engineering School is tops!

• IRA K. JONES, regent of Theta Tau, national professional engineering fraternity, and past president of the A. E. E., is taking advantage of the inter-semester holiday for his annual sojourn in Florida. The only thing we object to is his enviable coat of tan.

Phi Alpha Delta Honors Circuit Judge

• JUSTICE WILEY B. RUTLEDGE, JR., of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, will be the guest of honor at a dinner to be given Feb. 9 by Phi Alpha Delta, legal fraternity, at the Army and Navy Country Club.

Seymour Lipschultz Wins Annual Davis Contest

Courtesy The Washington Post

• SEYMOUR LIPSCHULTZ, a sophomore, won the first prize in the annual Davis Speaking Contest Jan. 24. His speech on "Socialized Medicine" won him this distinction and the $25.00 award.

Runner-up in the oratorical contest was E. A. Pritchard, whose address on "Inside Russia" won him $15.00, the second prize. Third prize of $10.00 went to R. K. Geran, who spoke about "That Other Third." Five other students from the beginning public speaking classes, who were chosen by their fellow classmates, also participated in the event which took place in the Hall of Government.

Dr. Harry Cassel Davis, secretary of the University Board of Trustees, who established the contest as an annual event four years ago, announced the winners. The contest was presided over by Professor Douglas Bement, of the English Department.

Art Exhibit Features Work Of Rosenberg

• A PREVIEW of the paintings by Norman Rosenberg was held Sunday at the Art School of the University.

Both water colors and oils by the young American artist were exhibited Sunday and will continue to be on exhibition until Feb. 26.

Mr. Rosenberg received his art education in New York City, where he studied at the National Academy of Design, the Grand Central Art School, the Pratt Institute, and the Parsons School of Art. For some time Rosenberg worked as an assistant at the Delphi Galleries. In 1933 he started painting the murals at Roosevelt High School in this city, and finished this assignment for the Public Works Administration in 1935.

His paintings have previously been exhibited in Washington Independent Shows, Radio House in 1936, Phillips Gallery, 1937, 1938, 1939, and the Artists' Union.

He has also been represented in the collections at the Little Gallery of Georgetown, Washington Boys' Club, Phillips Memorial Gallery and in various private collections.

The water colors which will be on exhibition during the showing at the Art School will be Baltimore by Day, a study in placement of mass and color Baltimore by Night, an impression of the Baltimore waterfront on a summer night, Dusk, painted from memory of a scene in Rock Creek Park; Home Run and Sun, a study including several phases of motion in one picture.

His oils include Corn and Plums, a study in green and red; Hay Wagon, painted at the agricultural experimental station; Lobster and Locust, an attempt at a new kind of still life; and Red Horse.

Phi Delta Gamma Initiates Twelve

• PHI DELTA GAMMA, Women's Graduate Sorority, held its annual initiation ceremony Saturday at the Shoreham Hotel.

Following the dinner, Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin sang a group of songs and Ruth Sangster gave a violin solo.

The new initiates are Lena Artz, Gertrude Bogan, Susan Boyer, Rhoda Coulson, Ruth Dick, Mary Doyle, Rebecca Fowler, Lucille Harris, Esther Lawton, Elizabeth Mewshaw, Mildred Negus and Mildred Tabb.

Failure Of First Dance Leads To Engineers' Council

• TEN YEARS ago, a group of fellows got together and held a dance. But due to the lack of consultation with others it didn't turn out successfully. As the result of this dance the Engineers' Council was founded to coordinate the activities of the Engineering groups in the University.

The Engineers Council was set up as a proto-type of the American Engineers Council. The members are composed of two elected members from each of the engineering groups—Sigma Tau, national honorary engineering fraternity, Theta Tau, national professional engineering fraternity, American Institute of Civil Engineers, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, American Institute of Mechanical Engineers, and a representative from the Engineering School at large.

Since that date the Engineers Council has developed into an excellent coordinating and governing body of the Engineering School. They have outlined programs for the dates of meetings of the Engineering Societies, and have undertaken all activities properly thought to be a function of the Engineering School as a whole. In addition, they sponsor the Engineers Ball.

This year the Council added a new task to their duties by coordinating the efforts of the Engineering School for the erection and decoration of the campus Christmas tree.

The funds from which the Council operates are derived solely from the annual Engineers Ball. Expenses of the two annual mixers and the Engineers Banquet are borne by these funds. All funds in excess of operating expenses are used to purchase equipment for the use of the Engineering School.

The Engineers Ball is considered to be one of the foremost social functions of the University. It will feature this year Watson Powell's orchestra who furnished the music for the All-University Prom. The Ball will be held on Feb. 23 in the west ballroom of the Shoreham Hotel.

• A RETURN GAME with Virginia would be excellent entertainment for Colonial fans if it could be arranged, that is, if you can stand the excitement of a contest similar to the first one in Charlottesville Saturday night.

For sheer, dynamic, nerve-lifting action, the Buffmen's overtime victory over Virginia reached a new season peak and everything basketball fans could desire happened. And the visiting Buffmen, playing their second game of the season on an enemy court, and contending with a slight case of home-team refereeing, showed their fighting heart and guts by coming from behind on three different occasions. Virginia led 5-0 in the early minutes of the game; held a 19-18 halftime advantage; led 28-21 midway in the second half; and seemed a sure winner with a 31-26 margin with only five minutes remaining.

Colonials Show Grit Under Pressure
But, on every occasion, the Colonial will to win asserted itself, and they caught up to their opponents to give the few Colonial supporters renewed hope for victory. Lou Veltri's free throw on Bill Harman's personal foul in the last 51 seconds of play knotted the count 31-all, and the pressure was really on Lou when he stepped up to the charity line stripe for that all-important foul shot.

The Cavaliers were handed another opportunity to win in regulation time when Veltri crowded Bill McCann for a personal foul. McCann's try headed straight for the net, went in, bounced up, rolled around and out as the packed audience groaned. Danie Forsythe smiled on the visitors on that occasion and in the overtime period, the Colonials really hit their best stride of the game, handling and controlling the ball most of the time. Veltri's set shot from the right corner clinched matters with less than 20 seconds remaining in the extra period.

Freshmen Win Women's Rifle Match

• IN A CLOSELY contested match the Freshman women's rifle team won the inter-class match which was fired during January.

With a score of 1100 points, the Freshmen beat the Sophomores by only 4 points in a match in which the winner was not determined until the last shot was fired.

Following the Sophomores, who fired 1096, the Junior-Senior team came in third with 1072.

Freshmen Sharpshooters Shoot Well
Each member of the Freshman team, which was captained by Aileen Mathews, scored several points higher than her average up to that time.

The three girls with the highest individual scores may be able to win for themselves a position on the varsity team, as there are several vacancies open. The high scorers were Cornelia Harris, with 283; Virginia Darrow, with 282; and Aileen Mathews, 281.

Cornelia Harris Shoots Best Score

The scoring was as follows: Freshman team: Aileen Mathews, captain, 281; Wanda Weaver, 279; Elizabeth Toumaz, 268; The big girls, 273; Julia Osmer, 260. The Sophomore team: Eleanor Sholtes, captain, 267; Eleanor Haley, 273; Shirley Schafer, 269; Cornelia Harris, 283; and Marjorie Mann, 271. The Junior-Senior team: Persis Marti, captain, 179; Virginia Darrow, 282; Jean Oliver, 261; Eleanor Stopsach, 254; and Idaline Dresser, 275.

The intramural individual match will be fired during February. All girls except varsity members who have had two-thirds of the required practices are eligible to fire in this match. Each girl will fire three targets of ten shots each, and the highest total aggregate score will determine the winner.

Netmen Face Busy Schedule Of 11 Matches

• ONE OF THE lengthiest and most difficult varsity tennis schedules in recent years was released today by Athletic Director Max Farrington. Matches with local rivals, Georgetown and Maryland, plus return matches with Michigan, Richmond, Wake Forest and Pittsburgh, are included, on a representative schedule that will provide eleven tough hurdles for the Buffmen to take.

Last year, led by Davey Johnson and Captain Elwood Davis, the Colonials experienced a very successful season, winning five out of seven matches played. They lost to Michigan and Colgate, two of the strongest net teams in their respective sections.

This season, with Davis, Bob Faris and Hank Meola lost to the squad, the Colonials have a very dependable nucleus to build a team around with Davey Johnson, Bernie Blankin and Bus Fleming returning.

The complete schedule is as follows: April 12, West Virginia, here; 12th, Michigan, here; Washington & Lee, away; 16th, V. M. L., away; 18th, Temple, here; 24th, Georgetown, away; May 4, Maryland, away; 7th, Georgetown, at home; 9th, Richmond, away; 10th, Wake Forest, away; and Pittsburgh, here on May 13.

Picture Deadline

• THE ABSOLUTE and final deadline for yearbook pictures is Thursday, Feb. 15. Any picture taken after that date will not appear in the annual.

Law and medical school seniors are especially urged to have their pictures taken immediately. The photographer is Casson's, 1305 Connecticut Ave., and the price is $1.50.

Virginia Beaten, 35-32 In Overtime Thriller

By Hatchet Press Service

• CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., Feb. 3.—A fighting Colonial basketball team won a thrilling 35-32 overtime victory over Virginia tonight before a crowd of 1,800 frenzied spectators.

Lou Veltri's free throw in the final 51 seconds of the last half knotted the score at 31-all and sent the game into overtime. Bill McCann, Cavalier guard, had a chance to win the game in the last 30 seconds, when he was fouled by Veltri, but his attempt bounced out of the hoop, rolled around and fell out.

After a five-minute rest, the Colonials gained possession of the ball at the start of the extra period, worked the ball around with a classy exhibition of ball handling and set Center Joe Comer up with a long set shot from left center to put the Buff and Blue quint ahead, 33-31. Bill Harman, high scoring Cavalier forward, was fouled by Captain George Garber and had a chance to tie up the game with two free throws. He made the first attempt good, but the second try rolled out.

Comer's Basket Gives Colonials Victory
With two minutes of the overtime session remaining, the Colonials gained possession of the ball and managed to stall for more than a minute before losing the ball. The crowd was in an uproar as a long Virginia field goal attempt fell short and the Buffmen again took possession. Lou Veltri clinched the game for the visitors with a long shot from the right corner with 20 seconds remaining to make the final count read 35-32.

Virginia started off with a rush, running the score to 5-0 before the Colonials could get accustomed to the strange surroundings. Baskets thrown by Zunie, Garber's free throw and long set shot put the Reinhardtmen ahead 10-8 for the first time. The score was again tied at 10 and then at 12 points apiece, Garber sinking another long one. Two pivot shots and a foul line conversion by Harman put the home team ahead 17-14, as Gilham dropped one in for the Colonials.

Garber hooked in a short one that rolled around several times before dropping in, and Gilham followed with a long one that hit the rim, bounced up, and fell through to put G. W. again in the lead 18-17. Harman sunk two free throws to give Virginia a 19-18 lead as the half ended.

Veltri replaced Auerbach near the end of the first half after three personal fouls had been called on Auerbach. Reinhardt was so impressed with Veltri's play that Reds watched the rest of the game from the players' bench.

Outstanding Player Virginia Quint
After four minutes of fast action in the second half, Veltri zipped in a long shot from the left corner, but close officiating against the Colonials gave Harman three more opportunities from the charity stripe and he made them all, to put the Cavaliers ahead 22-20. Veltri dropped in a foul shot, but McCann, Harman and Blackwell sent Virginia out in front by seven points with less than seven minutes remaining, to give them a 28-21 advantage.

Zunie came back with another one-handed running shot and Comer was pushed as she dropped in a snowbird and he made the free throw good. Harman sank one under the basket and Smith added a foul shot to draw ahead 31-26 with three minutes of play left. Comer arched in another long shot, and Virginia started to freeze the ball, but Bobby Gilham stole the ball from away from a Cavalier guard to Veltri's free throw climaxed rally. The crowd was going wild as the Cavaliers teased the Buffmen with a stalling act, and Garber fouled Harman attempting to gain possession of the ball. Virginia elected to take the free throw rather than receive the ball out of bounds, and the clock showed 1:21 to go as Harman's first attempt rung the hoop and rolled out. Veltri was fouled as he brought the ball down the court and his successful conversion sent the hectic struggle into overtime and victory for the visitors.

The outstanding player of the evening was big Bill Harman, who now has 184 points to his credit in 14 games. The Cavaliers had only been beaten twice this season. Harman scored six field goals and seven free throws. Joe Comer with eight and George Garber with seven points, were the Reinhardtmen's leading point-makers.

Outstanding for the Colonials, in Reinhardt's opinion, were Lou Veltri and Bobby Gilham. Reinhardt gave great credit to Bill Harman for his outstanding performance. The Buffmen scored 15 field goals to 10 for Virginia, but dropped in only five foul shots out of 15 chances, while the Cavaliers made good 12 out of 16 tries.—McCALL.

• SIGMA PHI EPSILON'S basketball team won its third game in four starts, trimming the National Labor Relations Board quint, 29-18, in Community Center basketball league game last Wednesday at Central High.

The Sig Eps led 15-12 at the half in the roughest game they played. Three N. L. R. B. players were banished on personal fouls. Bill Wetmore, with 11 points, and Crick- et King, with 9, were high scorers for the winners. Tomorrow night the Sig Eps five meets the strong Railroad Retirement Board team at 9:30 o'clock.

Strong Wayne "5" Faces Buff Here Tonight

• THE COLONIALS today prepared for another tough game as the strong Wayne Tartars take the floor tonight at Tech High in an attempt to win their first game in four meetings with Coach Bill Reinhardt's quint. The Tartars breezed into town on the crest of a four-game winning streak and with a season record of seven wins against four setbacks. The game will start at 8:30 p.m.

After tonight's game, the Colonials embark on a two-game road trip, facing Toledo Thursday night and Western Reserve in Cleveland Saturday evening. The game with Wayne will be the last home game for the Buffmen until March 2, when they face their strong rivals from Brooklyn, St. John's.

Wayne to Start Giant Quint
Coach Reinhardt will find his squad opposed by a tall, rangy Tartar five, whose starting line-up averaged better than six-foot one. Jim Garretson, forward, and Co-captain Howard McCarty, center, tower six-three and a half and have been the leading point makers for Detroit's City College since. McCarty wears special shatterproof glasses without guards and has his eyesight insured for $15,000.

Garl "Dutch" Schultz, forward; Don Roble, high-scoring soph guard, and Co-captain "Chick" Starky comprise the Tartar starting five.

Saturday night Wayne defeated Buffalo 49-22 and faced Mt. Saint Mary's at Frederick last night. Coach Reinhardt scouted the Tartars at Frederick and was much impressed with their play.

Tartars Play Strong Quint

Last year, G. W. won 56-46 on the Wayne court and defeated the Tartars twice the season before in the only meetings of the two quintets. Wayne defeated Iowa, Oregon, last year's national champions, 32-28, and lost very close games to such strong fives as Utah, Washington State and Marquette this season.

Thursday night the Colonials face Toledo on the Rockets' home court and are out to make up for the 47-30 licking handed them out there last year. The Colonials, however, won the first game played here by the wide margin of 46-29. Bob Gerber faces Toledo's Scorers. The Rockets have won 17 out of 19 starts so far this season and are averaging over 50 points per game. Toledo's scoring star, Center Bob Gerber, is leading the Rockets with a 16-point-per-game average. John Carroll fell victim to Toledo, 52-38 Saturday night on the Blue Streaks' home floor. Princeton and Marshall hold the only victories scored over the Toledo five this year.

Western Reserve has another good team, winning five-out of seven with Saturday night's 50-33 loss to Ohio U. breaking a four-game Red Cat winning streak. They trimmed Buffalo, 57-36 and snapped a Colgate six-game winning string, 47-43 for their most impressive win of the season. Last season the Colonials won 32-46 when the Red Cats played here.

Army Breaks Buff Winning Streak
Coach Reinhardt will try to nurse his one game victory into another winning streak. Army spoiled things by upsetting the Buffmen 36-31 at West Point on Jan. 27, in a tough, hard-fought battle. The Colonials' hope for seven straight victories.

Army took an early 13-3 lead and was ahead 19-16 at the half. Comer with eight points, and Gilham netting seven, led the Buffmen for scoring honors.

Invincible Frosh Quint Seeks 13th Victory Tonight

• FIVE OPPOSING quintets will make an attempt to put a stop to the Freshmen undefeated activities between tonight and the evening of March 6. Five enemy forces will be playing with fire as the Frosh seek their thirteenth to seventeenth straight basketball victories.

Tonight, in a preliminary game to the Wayne-Varsity match, the yearlings tackle George Washington High from Alexandria. Little trouble is expected from the High-lets, since not one of the local high schools could withstand the deadly attack of the Zahnmen.

Face Terp Frosh Monday
Next Monday afternoon, the "little" Colonials travel to Maryland for one of the so-called stiff tests of the year, when the Terp Frosh furnish the opposition. The Navy Plebes as hosts, Gonzaga High and the Georgetown Freshmen round out the so far successful season.

Averaging 45.5 points per game, the Freshmen have piled up 546 points in twelve starts as compared to their opponents 24 point average and 286 total.

Library Exhibits Gutenberg Facsimiles

• IN CELEBRATION of the 500th anniversary of the invention of printing from movable type by Johann Gutenberg, the University Library is exhibiting facsimiles of pages from the famous Gutenberg Bible.

There is a page showing the Twenty-third Psalm on exhibition in the Reserve Reading Room. A portion of the Book of Kings is shown in the exhibition case on the second floor.

McIntire Holds Proof-reading Party

• FOR THE SPECIAL Federal Trade Commission Issue of the George Washington Law Review, to be published soon, the board of editors met in Stockton Hall Sunday for a special proof-reading session. Professor McIntire called them all together for a "proof-reading party" and to justify that title, the girls served refreshments in their lounge, thus causing a regular stream of traffic between the Law review office and the lounge. However, the articles were all proof-read and the special issue was sent to the printer by special delivery mail.

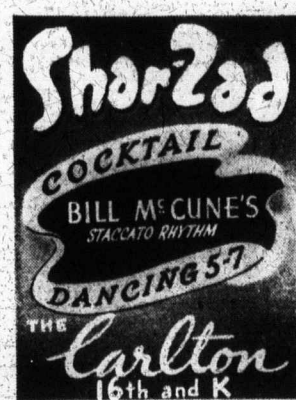

Comer, Garber Close Gap On Scoring Leaders

• SCORING ONLY six points in the last two games, Reds Auerbach, leading Colonial point-maker, lost ground to Captain George Garber and Joe Comer, as Reds brought his total to 103 for 12 games.

Matt Zunie, lanky soph forward, has a slight edge for second place scoring honors. Matt's 99 points is just three ahead of Garber and Comer, who are tied for third place with 96 apiece. Bobby Gilham follows with 67 tallies.

The individual totals are:

	G	FG	FT	PT	TP
Auerbach	12	42	15	34	103
Zunie	12	42	15	36	99
Garber	12	40	16	19	96
Comer	12	41	8	15	95
